A “fortuitous event” includes, but is not limited to, war, fire, meals, riot, industrial action, extreme weather or other emergency.

Warranty of Authority: The signatory warrants that he/she has the authority to sign this Application and agrees to be personally liable to AHASA for payments falling due pursuant thereto should such warranty is breached. In the event that AHASA is obliged to take action against the participant and his/her employer shall be liable for and shall pay all costs, including attorney and client costs and collection commission. I hereby consent to giving my personal information to AHASA to use my personal information to store and pass it onto third parties if necessary (CRM, LMS, QCTO, SETA, ETQA, SABPP & DHET). AHASA has taken the necessary steps to comply with the provisions of the POPI Act and its regulations by conducting an impact assessment and developing a framework for compliance. In this regard, AHASA warrants that it shall not use the information provided herein for purposes other than those set out in our privacy policy. AHASA advises that in addition to the fields of information required below to deliver in terms of this agreement, it shall also require learner details in order to comply with the statutory requirements of, inter alia, the Skills Development Act and the systems requirements of our Learner Management System. In the absence of this information, AHASA may not be able to deliver against its mandate. Furthermore, by accepting the terms of this agreement, you also understand and accept that AHASA may have to further process the personal information received in this and other associated documents by transmitting it to other organisations as may be required such as SETA's, ETQA's, Professional Bodies and the like.
